EDUCATION:

Undergraduate: University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign
B.S., Psychology, 1998

Graduate: Ohio University
M.S., Clinical Psychology (Health Psychology Concentration), 2000
Ph.D., Clinical Psychology (Health Psychology Concentration), 2003

Clinical Internship: VA Pittsburgh Healthcare System, 2002-2003

Postdoctoral Fellowship: University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine
Cardiovascular Behavioral Medicine Research (NIH T32 HL07560), 2003-2006

ACADEMIC APPOINTMENTS:

2006-2012	Assistant Professor, Department of Psychology, School of Science, Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis (IUPUI)
2007-Present	Affiliated Scientist, Indiana University Center for Aging Research, Indiana University School of Medicine (IUSM)
2012-2019	Associate Professor, Department of Psychology, School of Science, IUPUI
2016-Present	Affiliated Research Scientist, Regenstrief Institute
2016-Present	Member, Indiana University Center for Diabetes and Metabolic Diseases, IUSM
2016-2023	Faculty Scientist, Indiana University Diabetes Translational Research Center, IUSM
2018-Present	Director of Graduate Studies, Department of Psychology, School of Science, Indiana University Indianapolis (formerly IUPUI)
2019-Present	Professor, Department of Psychology, School of Science, Indiana University Indianapolis
2025-Present	Affiliate Faculty, Institute for Human Health and Wellbeing, Indiana University

PROFESSIONAL ORGANIZATIONS:

Academy of Behavioral Medicine Research (ABMR)
Federation of Behavioral and Brain Sciences (FABBS)
International Society for Research on Internet Interventions (ISRII)
Society for Biopsychosocial Science and Medicine (SBSM)
Society for Health Psychology (Division 38), American Psychological Association
Society of Behavioral Medicine (SBM)

HONORS AND AWARDS:

2003-2006	Ruth L. Kirschstein National Research Service Award Institutional Research Training Grant (NIH T32 HL07560), Postdoctoral Scholar in Cardiovascular Behavioral Medicine Research, Psychiatry, University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine
2005	Scholar Award, American Psychosomatic Society
2008	Release for Research Time Award, IUPUI
2015	School of Science Research Award for Tenured Faculty, IUPUI
2020	Fellow, Academy of Behavioral Medicine Research
2022	Fellow, Society for Biopsychosocial Science and Medicine (formerly American Psychosomatic Society)

GRANTS:Active:Clinical and Economic Impact of Behavioral Health Integration in Specialty Care: Addressing a Major Barrier to Real-World Implementation (Multi-PI: Stewart, Gupta)

5/1/26-4/30/27

$40,000

Indiana Clinical and Translational Sciences Institute (UM1 TR004402)

On 1/1/25, the IU School of Medicine and IU Health launched a new clinical service line called Integrated Cardiac Psychology (ICP), in which cardiac psychologists work in tandem with the cardiovascular care team to address patient behavioral and psychosocial needs. This quasi-experimental study, funded by a Clinical Translational Science award, seeks to determine the impact of ICP on cardiovascular and health economic outcomes utilizing data from a statewide health information exchange.

Role: Principal Investigator (Multi-PI)

Co-Developing a Stress Management Intervention for Black Adults with Hypertension (PI: Sprague)

9/5/25-8/30/30

$829,528

NIH/NHLBI

This career development award (K01 HL175117) supports the development and pilot testing of a multilevel management intervention co-designed with Black adults with elevated blood pressure. Utilizing user-centered design and ambulatory blood pressure monitoring, the project aims to enhance coping resources to reduce stress and improve cardiovascular health.

Role: Co-Mentor

HIV, Depression, and Insulin Resistance (Multi-PI: Gupta, Stewart, Tran)

9/1/25-8/31/29

$3,096,280

NIH/NIDDK

This project (R01 DK141366) will fill a critical knowledge gap by determining the effects of depression treatment on insulin resistance, monocyte activation, and the metabolome in people with HIV treated with antiretroviral therapy. The results from this randomized controlled trial will identify new treatment targets and lay the rationale for a future, large-scale trial of internet cognitive-behavioral therapy for depression to reduce incident diabetes in HIV.

Role: Principal Investigator (Multi-PI)

Integrated Cardiac Psychology (Multi-PI: Stewart, Chernyak)

1/1/25-12/31/26

IUSM/IU Health Cardiovascular Institute

This funding is to support the start-up and operations (2-3 years) costs of a new Integrated Cardiac Psychology (ICP) clinical service line available through the IUSM/IU Health Cardiovascular Medicine. Cardiac psychology addresses the behavioral, psychological, and social issues related to cardiovascular health and diseases. It has been integrated into cardiology to treat the whole person, not just the heart and the cardiovascular system. An embedded research project seeks to assess value added (e.g., improved patient outcomes, improved patient satisfaction, reduced healthcare utilization, reduced costs) and support a request for sustainability funding from IU Health.

Role: Principal Investigator (Multi-PI)

ADEPT-ICU: Attenuating Depression with Internet Cognitive Behavioral Therapy (CBT) to Slow Cognitive Decline in Older Intensive Care Unit (ICU) Survivors (Multi-PI: Khan, Stewart, Wang)

8/15/24-6/30/29

$3,676,439

NIH/NIA

This two-arm randomized controlled trial (R01 AG084754; NCT06627894) is designed to test the efficacy of an internet CBT intervention called Good Days Ahead (GDA) to slow cognitive decline in older ICU survivors with moderate-to-severe depressive symptoms after ICU hospitalization. If our trial is successful, the GDA intervention could be an efficacious, accessible, and scalable approach to slow cognitive decline, reduce depression, and improve quality of life in older ICU survivors.

Role: Principal Investigator (Multi-PI)

Refining and Testing an Innovative Physical Activity Implementation Strategy in Under-Resourced Children (PI: Kercher)

7/1/24-6/30/27

$231,000

American Heart Association

The career development award (24CDA1038890) is designed to support Dr. Kercher's career goal to become an independent scientist and international leader in children's physical activity research. The objective of the project is to refine and test a multilevel implementation strategy for a physical activity intervention in middle school children from low-socioeconomic rural communities.

Role: Co-Mentor

Strengthening Hearts by Addressing Disrupted Sleep (SHADES) Mechanistic Trial (PI: Stewart)

8/15/23-7/31/28

$3,040,961

NIH/NHLBI

This mechanistic randomized controlled trial (R01 HL165115; NCT06041581) seeks to determine if our modernized collaborative care intervention for insomnia improves biological factors (systemic inflammation, autonomic dysfunction, metabolic dysregulation, and proinflammatory gene expression) thought to explain how insomnia promotes cardiovascular disease and if these improvements are due to positive changes in sleep mechanisms.

Role: Principal Investigator

Training the Next Generation of Social and Behavioral Physician-Scientists in ADRD: The Indiana ADRD Medical Scientist Training Program (Multi-PI: Fowler, Callahan, Herbert)

9/30/21-9/29/26

$917,643

NIH/NIA

This institutional training grant (T32 AG074934) funds two MD-PhD students per year who are committed to research training in the social and behavioral sciences focused on Alzheimer's disease and related dementias (ADRD).

Role: Admissions Committee Member

Completed:

Alcohol-Associated Syndemic and Microbiome Evaluation and Targeted Treatment in Persons Living with HIV (PI: Chichetto)

9/25/20-8/31/25

NIH/NIAAA

This aims of this award (K01AA029042) are to test the hypotheses that the alcohol-associated syndemic is associated with GI dysbiosis and subsequent CVD risk and that targeted supplementation may restore GI microbiome homeostasis and reduce inflammation.

Role: Collaborator on Mentoring Team

Relationships Among Sleep Parameters, Eating Behaviors, and Cardiovascular Disease Risk Biomarkers

(PI: Stewart)

7/19/24-6/4/25

$60,831

NIH/NHLBI

This NHLBI Diversity Research Supplement to the SHADES Mechanistic Trial (R01 HL165115-01A1S1) supports Clinical Psychology PhD student Timothy Lipuma's career development. The training goals are to increase his experience in primary care-based clinical trials, expand his knowledge of insomnia screening/treatment and CVD risk screening/ management, and further develop his leadership skills. Mr. Lipuma's ancillary study will investigate whether unhealthy eating behaviors mediate the relationship between poor sleep parameters and cardiovascular disease risk biomarkers.

Role: Principal Investigator

Treating Insomnia to Reduce Inflammation in HIV (Multi-PI: Gupta, Stewart)

6/1/21-5/31/24

$425,537

NIH/NIMH

This pilot randomized controlled trial (R21 MH127206; NCT04721067) seeks to evaluate the effects of an internet cognitive-behavioral therapy for insomnia (CBT-I) called Sleep Healthy Using The Internet (SHUTi) on biomarkers of systemic inflammation and monocyte activation in virologically-suppressed, HIV-positive adults with insomnia disorder.

Role: Principal Investigator (Multi-PI)

Exploring the Role of a Same (Versus Different) Race Provider and Allyship Behaviors on Maternal and Reproductive Health Outcomes among Black Women (PI: Johnson)

1/1/23-12/30/23

$10,000

Enhanced Mentoring Program with Opportunities for Ways to Excel in Research (EMPOWER)

IUPUI, Office for Women and Office of the Vice Chancellor for Research

This grant mechanism supports IUPUI faculty who are historically underrepresented in their discipline by providing intensive research mentoring. I served as a mentor to an Associate Professor of Psychology (India Johnson) pursuing an NIH-funded program of research addressing racial disparities in maternal health.

Role: Mentor

Longer-Term Cardiovascular and Psychiatric Consequences of SARS-CoV-2 Infection: Prevalence and Insights into Shared Mechanisms (Multi-PI: Raman, Stewart)

5/1/21-4/30/24

$74,948

Indiana Clinical and Translational Sciences Institute (UL1 TR002529)

This pilot case-control study, funded by a 2021 Collaboration In Translational Research (CTR) award, seeks: (1) to assess whether recovered SARS-CoV-2 patients, versus controls, have elevated psychiatric symptoms, greater subclinical cardiac/vascular abnormalities, and increased biomarkers of systemic inflammation and coagulation 6-12 months post-diagnosis and (2) to examine whether inflammatory/coagulation biomarkers are positively associated with psychiatric factors and subclinical cardiac/vascular abnormalities.

Role: Principal Investigator (Multi-PI)

Depression Treatment to Reduce the Excess Diabetes Risk of People with Depression and Prediabetes (PI: Stewart)

2/1/20-7/31/23

$412,334

NIH/NIDDK

This pilot randomized controlled trial (R21 DK123582; NCT04437485) seeks: (1) to determine the preliminary efficacy of our modernized collaborative care intervention for depression in improving the diabetes risk markers of hemoglobin A1c and insulin resistance and (2) to explore whether somatic depressive symptoms – i.e., hyperphagia (increased appetite/weight) and/or hypersomnia (increased sleep) – moderate the effect of the eIMPACT-DM intervention on diabetes risk markers.

Role: Principal Investigator

Modernized Collaborative Care to Reduce the Excess CVD Risk of Depressed Patients (PI: Stewart)

4/21/15-3/31/21

$2,647,352

NIH/NHLBI

The aims of this Phase II randomized controlled trial (R01 HL122245; NCT02458690) are (1) to determine whether a modernized collaborative care intervention for depression called eIMPACT reduces the excess cardiovascular disease risk of depressed primary care patients and (2) to identify the mechanisms by which this improvement may occur.

Role: Principal Investigator

HIV, Depression, and Cardiovascular Risk (Multi-PI: Gupta, Stewart, Freiberg)

9/19/14-8/31/19

$2,917,578

NIH/NHLBI

The overall objective of this set of projects (R01 HL126557; NCT02309372) is to examine the associations of depressive disorders and their treatment with markers of systemic inflammation, coagulation, and endothelial function in people with HIV.

Role: Principal Investigator (Multi-PI)

Influence of Immigrant Status on Providers' Diabetes Treatment Decisions

7/1/18-6/30/19

$27,000

NIH/NCATS/CTSA

This Indiana CTSI Predoctoral Award is funded in part by Grant # UL1TR002529 (Shekhar, PI). The awardee is Loretta Hsueh, a clinical psychology PhD mentee of Dr. Stewart. The objective of this project is to employ virtual human technology to examine the influence of patient immigrant status on primary care providers' treatment decisions with Mexican American adults with type 2 diabetes. This award also provides training in virtual human technologies, clinical trial design and implementation, and dissemination of research to practice.

Role: Sponsor (Co-Sponsor: Mather)

Internet-Based Cognitive-Behavioral Therapy to Treat Insomnia in HIV (Multi-PI: Gupta, Stewart)

10/25/17-4/30/19

Indiana CTSI (UL1 TR001108), IUPUI Department of Psychology, IU Center for AIDS Research

$38,214

The aims of this pilot randomized controlled trial are: (1) to evaluate the effect of internet-based cognitive-behavioral therapy for insomnia on insomnia symptom severity and global sleep quality and (2) to compare measures of frailty and cognitive functioning between those with and without clinical levels of insomnia in people with HIV.

Role: Principal Investigator (Multi-PI)

Symptom Priorities of African American Chronic Pain Patients in Primary Care Settings (PI: Rand)

01/01/16-12/31/16

$9,700

Department of Psychology, IUPUI

The aims of this pilot project were to: (1) establish the feasibility/acceptability of a symptom prioritization tool for use among African American chronic pain patients; (2) assess patient priorities of 6 cardinal symptoms (pain, fatigue, depression, anxiety, sleep, and cognitive disturbance) and their key characteristics; and (3) estimate effect sizes of pertinent relationships.

Role: Co-Investigator

Targeting Systemic Inflammation to Concurrently Treat Late-Life Depression and Reduce Coronary Artery Disease Risk (PI: Stewart)

7/1/11-3/31/14

$465,718

NIH/NIMH

The aim of this project was to conduct a small randomized controlled trial to evaluate whether pentoxifylline is efficacious for concurrently treating late-life depression and endothelial dysfunction. This pilot trial was one of five projects funded by the Indianapolis Interventions and Practice Research Infrastructure Program awarded to Dr. Callahan (R24 MH080827; total direct costs: $3,184,631).

Role: Principal Investigator

Research in Exercise and Depression (PI: Clark)

7/1/11-3/31/14

$367,191

NIH/NIMH

This pilot project was designed to establish the feasibility and preliminary data necessary to test in a subsequent randomized controlled trial: (1) whether aerobic exercise training is effective in the treatment of depression and (2) whether changes in biological markers indicate an anti-inflammatory or neurogenesis process as a result of exercise. This pilot trial was one of five projects funded by the Indianapolis Interventions and Practice Research Infrastructure Program awarded to Dr. Callahan (R24 MH080827; total direct costs: $3,184,631).

Role: Co-Investigator

Computer-Based Depression Treatment to Reduce Coronary Artery Disease Risk (PI: Stewart)

1/1/11-7/31/13

$110,000

American Heart Association

The objective of pilot trial (National Clinical Research Program 11CRP4880000; NCT01605552) was to evaluate whether a highly disseminable, internet intervention for depression, delivered before the onset of clinical cardiovascular disease, reduces coronary artery disease risk markers. This award also provided training in the practical design and conduct of clinical trials in primary care settings; primary care research and practice, focusing on depression; and academic leadership.

Role: Principal Investigator

Enhancement of Clinical Health Psychology Professions via Training in Non-Self Report Methods of Data Collection (PI: Cyders)

9/1/10-8/31/11

$56,003

U.S. DHHS/HRSA

The purpose of this grant (D76HP20905) was to provide funding for the purchase of an eye-tracking device and a computer controlled olfactometer to increase the ability of IUPUI's clinical psychology PhD program to train students on non-self-report methods of data collection.

Role: Co-Investigator

Modeling Alzheimer's Disease Costs and Transitions (PI: Callahan)

4/1/09-8/31/11

$1,297,195 ($75,000 for my subprojects)

NIH/NIA

The aim of this project (R01 AG031222) was to establish a comprehensive database linking clinical trial, electronic medical record, and Medicare/Medicaid data. I was the PI of two subprojects, which were follow-up studies of the IMPACT trial. The first examined core symptoms of depression and anxiety as predictors of incident CVD events, and the second evaluated whether collaborative care for depression reduces risk of incident CVD events over an 8-year follow-up period.

Role: Co-Investigator

Health and Illness Priorities, Practices, and Opportunities (PI: Clark)

1/1/08-12/31/09

$100,000

NIH/NIA

Indiana University Center for Aging Research/Indiana University Roybal Center (P30 AG024967)

The aims of this project were (1) to develop and test new survey research measures and (2) to identify existing survey research measures that could improve our understanding of chronic disease self-management behavior in socioeconomically and medically vulnerable older adults.

Role: Co-Investigator

Emotional Traits and Endothelial Dysfunction (PI: Stewart)

12/15/07-1/1/09

$66,097

NIH/NIA

Indiana University Center for Aging Research/Indiana University Roybal Center (P30 AG024967)

The purpose of this observational study was to generate pilot and feasibility data to support applications for external funding for a clinical trial to determine whether depression treatment, delivered before the onset of clinical cardiovascular disease, reduces cardiovascular risk.

Role: Principal Investigator
